Insight

The client is a Canada-based insurance company that was encountering numerous challenges in the field of testing. The Insurer looked towards the experience and expertise of Forsys to overcome the restrictions and bring efficiency into various processes.

Forsys' QA team executed 12,500 test cases manually with Zero defects User Acceptance Testing in stricter timelines, reduced man hours by 60%, improved the client's process efficiency and more.

Business Challenges

The key business challenges for the client were:

- Lack of a testing Team-as-a-Service (TaaS)
- Absence of a TaaS partner to write and execute 12,500 test cases in 4 weeks
- Execution of thousands of Test Cases with limited resources and time
- No testing strategy to execute the test cases
- Limited budget and time for automation testing

Transformation Journey

As a part of the transformation journey, Forsys' QA team did the following:

- Offered TaaS
- Collaborated with the client's in-house teams to understand the frameworks of processes, backdrop of the applications and their functionalities, and the expected results.
- Formulated a well-defined strategy to improve the client's process efficiency and operational productivity.
- Executed the Traditional Manual Testing and a strategy-driven approach to test the 12,500 test cases that resulted in Zero defects.

Impact

As a result of Forsys' QA testing strategy, the client saw:

1. Test execution of 100% test cases
2. Generation of Zero Defects testing results
3. Zero defect User Acceptance Testing
4. Completion of testing within the determined time of 4 weeks.
5. Improvement in the client's process efficiency and operational productivity
6. Provision of environmental stability
7. No disruption to business operations and validations
8. ~60% of man hours saved
